U.S. Probation Officer Action:

The offender has been on permanent disability since commencing supervision. Initially, he struggled to meet all of his financial obligations to the Court as his personal monthly expenses were significant, compounded by the costs of his medication. However, he has since agreed to have his Social Security benefits garnished each month, which has kept him in compliance for over the last six months. This garnishment will continue until the amount owed is paid in full.

At this time, we are recommending that the Court allow the offender to expire as scheduled and to allow the U.S. Attorney's Office, Financial Litigation Unit manage and monitor the remainder of his payments. He has been completely compliant with all other aspects of his supervision from the onset.

Respectfully submitted,

By: Shawn M Leakan
